Optional Benefit with Fixed Indexed Annuities

GUARANTEED GROWTH, NO MATTER HOW MARKETS PERFORM

A fixed indexed annuity is a long-term contract that can help you meet your financial objectives in retirement by protecting principal and offering growth potential. But you also may be interested in leaving a financial legacy for loved ones to assist with their future needs.

Interest Enhanced Death Benefit, available with Pacific Life fixed indexed annuities for an additional annual cost, can provide important guarantees. If you pass away before converting the contract to guaranteed retirement income payments, this optional beneficiary benefit can:

- Protect the amount of your purchase payment for your beneficiaries.
- Grow annually by the amount of interest credited to your contract plus an additional 2% for either 20 years or until age 85, whichever occurs first.
- Never decrease due to market performance.

Is Interest Enhanced Death Benefit Right for You?

You may consider Interest Enhanced Death Benefit if you:

- Want to leave as much to your loved ones as possible by ensuring your Death Benefit Base will grow each year.
- Feel it's important to maximize your financial legacy for your loved ones.

All guarantees are subject to the claims-paying ability and financial strength of the issuing insurance company.

A beneficiary benefit is referred to as a death benefit in the contract summary.

HOW IT WORKS

The optional Interest Enhanced Death Benefit will increase the Death Benefit Base in both up and down markets based on interest earned on the contract plus a 2% roll-up, compounded annually. Even for years in which no interest is credited to the contract, the Death Benefit Base will still increase by 2%.

Assumptions

- $100,000 initial purchase payment made in 2001¹ by a 65-year-old client. No withdrawals are made during the 20-year period.
- Interest credited is based on the historical performance of the S&P 500[®] index from 2002–2021 using a 1-Year Point-to-Point Interest-Crediting Option, which credits interest based on the index return over one contract year, up to a cap. The hypothetical cap is 5% and is subject to change.
- The Interest Enhanced Death Benefit fee, which is 0.40% of the Death Benefit Base, is deducted annually from the contract value.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Am I eligible for Interest Enhanced Death Benefit?	Interest Enhanced Death Benefit is available to all contract owners and annuitants who are age 80 or younger at the time the annuity is purchased, subject to state availability and variations. <ul style="list-style-type: none">• A single owner must also be an annuitant.• Joint owners must be natural persons who are spouses on the contract issue date, and one of those owners also must be an annuitant.
When can I elect the benefit?	Interest Enhanced Death Benefit must be elected at issue or within 60 days of purchasing your annuity contract.
What is the Death Benefit Base and how does it grow?	The Death Benefit Base is an amount used to determine how much your beneficiaries will receive upon your death. When your annuity is issued, the Death Benefit Base equals the amount of your purchase payment. Any subsequent purchase payments also will be added to the Death Benefit Base. Additional cash purchase payments up to $100,000 are permitted for Pacific Life fixed indexed annuities within 60 days of contract issue. The Death Benefit Base will increase each year on the contract anniversary by the amount of interest credited to your account, including any Fixed Account interest or indexed-linked interest earned as of the contract anniversary, plus an additional 2% roll-up. This increase will occur for 20 years or until age 85, whichever occurs first.
How will withdrawals affect the benefit?	If you choose to make withdrawals from your contract, the Death Benefit Base will be decreased. This adjustment is proportionate and may be more or less than the actual amount withdrawn. Annuities have some limitations, and you may incur taxes or charges if you take your money out early. For example, if you take a withdrawal before you are age 59½, you may have to pay a 10% federal tax in addition to ordinary income taxes. Consult your tax advisor regarding your unique situation.
When death occurs, what do my beneficiaries receive and when?	Beneficiaries will receive an amount equal to the greater of the Interest Enhanced Death Benefit or the standard death benefit as of the Notice Date (the date Pacific Life receives the beneficiary benefit claim in good order) upon the contract owner's death. The standard death benefit is equal to the greater of the contract value or the Guaranteed Minimum Surrender Value. See the product client guide for more information.

When death occurs, what do my beneficiaries receive and when?

If a contract is jointly owned by two spouses or if a spouse is named as the beneficiary on a contract, the surviving spouse may elect to continue the contract and Interest Enhanced Death Benefit as long as the surviving spouse is age 85 or younger and the roll-up period has not expired. If the benefit is continued, it will be payable upon the surviving spouse's death. A surviving spouse also may terminate the benefit, and the contract will continue with the contract value set to the beneficiary benefit amount. If the surviving spouse is not eligible to continue the Interest Enhanced Death Benefit, then the benefit will terminate and the contract value will be set to the beneficiary benefit amount.

What is the charge for this benefit and how will it affect my contract?

The charge for this benefit is 0.40% of the Death Benefit Base deducted annually from your contract value (not the Death Benefit Base). If the benefit is terminated on a contract anniversary, the entire charge for the prior year will be deducted on that anniversary. Prior to a contract anniversary, the charge will be deducted on a proportionate basis from the contract value on the earlier of the date of termination or the next contract anniversary. The benefit fee is deducted for the life of the contract, even after the roll-up period expires.

Can I voluntarily terminate the benefit?

Interest Enhanced Death Benefit cannot be voluntarily terminated by a contract owner. The benefit will terminate only upon the earliest of the following events:

- The beneficiary benefit becomes payable to your beneficiaries.
- You fully surrender your contract or terminate the contract in accordance with contract provisions.
- You convert your contract to annuity income payments.
- Certain ownership changes occur.
